Real Faith

It is Still - All by Faith

For the purpose of illustration in the book, REAL FAITH, I share a lot of "faith stories" taken from experiences in our walk of faith over the past 40 years. I want you to know, however, that our walk of faith is not over. The truths presented in the book do not just represent what we lived through in the past and what used to be – far from it. They DO apply to the yesterdays of our life – yes, but they also apply to TODAY as well. What I am saying here is that Sheila and I are STILL living by faith every moment of every day. What we write about in the book is not what we DID, but what we DO. As the book says, there are no "days off" in the faith life and there is no graduation day either. Sheila and I are trusting God by faith every day for the needs of our life and ministry just as much now as we when we began back in 1968. We have no more "guarantees" now (humanly speaking) than then. We are still not underwritten by anyone or any group other than the "Heavenly Committee" of the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. Let me be quick to say, however, that over all these decades we have found the care of that Committee to be more than sufficient. We have also found His guarantee of "I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee" (Heb. 13:5) to be quite reliable.

In 1975 God spoke to Sheila and me while on a church mission trip to East Africa and told us to go home, resign our church and enter the ministry of international evangelism. We had no clue how to do that. We did not know anyone outside the USA, we had no organization and we had no money and, as far as we could see, no way to get any. So the question became, how do we do this? One morning while walking in a park down the street from our house, God revealed to me in no uncertain terms that it was to be by faith in Him alone (story on Cover Design page in book). Our instructions were to ask no one for money but to look to God Himself to meet our personal needs and the needs of the ministry. So, over the years, we have made it our policy and practice to look to God to intervene supernaturally and provide what is needed to carry out His will for our life. As it says in the book, God's will is always accompanied by God's supply. We have always found that to be true.

So, nothing has changed for Sheila and me, except that today we are looking to God for far greater things than we were in the beginning. In the early days we were just trusting God to meet the needs of our little family and a very limited work. Today we are looking to God to meet the needs of a much larger ministry family (several hundred) and a worldwide evangelistic ministry. We begin every week and every month not knowing what channel God will use through which to send His supply, but we are confident that He will meet the needs. We still maintain the same non-solicitation policy today that we began with many years ago. All we ask of our friends is that they join us in prayer looking to God by faith to sustain and expand the ministry He has given us to perform.

So, yes, it is still all by faith, and because it is, life is still exciting. We may not know what channel God is going to use next, but we DO know Who the Source is and we DO know that HE is faithful. I am so grateful that many years ago God led us the way He did, because if He hadn't, the book REAL FAITH would not exist. If you have not read it, I encourage you to do so. If you will read it and apply the truths contained in it, I believe you will come to the place where you agree with Sheila and me that there is nothing in life more exciting or rewarding than trusting God at all times for everything. And on that closing note I am glad I can say that it is still ALL BY FAITH.
